Election/Restrictions

The restriction requirement dated 6/11/04 is withdrawn and a new restriction requirement is as follows:

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-10, drawn to a signal transition, classified in class 333, subclass 33.
  - II. Claims 11-12, drawn to a method of forming an interconnect, classified in class 29, subclass 838.
  - III. Claim 13, drawn to a conductive puck having bond balls, classified in class 428, subclass 198.
  - IV. Claim 33, drawn to a sampling system, classified in class 324, subclass 76.15.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and (I, III, and IV) are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the transition (Group I), puck (Group III), and puck (Group IV) do not require the step of removing of the wire and the interconnect could be made with (for example) a pressure contact.
3. Inventions (I and IV) and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the subcombination requires (for example) a plurality of conductive balls. The subcombination has separate utility (for example) such as for connection of microstrip instead of an airline.

4. Inventions IV and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the subcombination requires (for example) that the airline parallel to the axis of the cavity. The subcombination has separate utility such as use as an interconnect for an optoelectronic circuit.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
